Clockaudio's CDT100 MKIII is a Game Changer When it Comes to AV Connectivity

November 19, 2021 – Vaudreuil-Dorion, Quebec, Canada– Clockaudio, a global leader in pro-AV microphone technologies based in the UK and with offices in North America and Asia, is proud to introduce the latest addition to the Clockaudio family, the CDT-100 MKIII.

Clockaudio's CDT-100 product line is built to streamline data and power cables for boardrooms, conference rooms and video rooms, reducing the cabling requirements from multiple and individual microphones from the conference table to the AV cabinet.

Evolving the CDT-line even further, the CDT-100 MKIII Dante Transporter is packed with a multitude of features which include the ability to daisy chain up to six devices on a single-network wire, plug-and-play pre-configured-TS ports and pre-made modules enabling you to use your favorite DSP or control system. With the CDT-100 MKIII, you can even customize the colors of your buttons with 256 levels of brightness per color, offering millions of color combinations.

Commenting on the CDT-100 MK III, Managing Director of Clockaudio North America, Robert Moreau says: "We are very excited to continue to build our connectivity ecosystem with the CDT-100 MKIII. This recent version incorporates many new features like the diagnostic modes that will save time and money for the integrator and make the installation easier."

The new CDT-100 MKIII platform gives Clockaudio the ability to further expand the product offering in the future with added features and different configurations to address new-market and end-user requirements.
