Clockaudio Unveils More Pro-AV Innovations at InfoComm 2024 in Las Vegas

April 25, 2024 - Montreal, Canada - Clockaudio N.A., together with Clockaudio UK, globally renowned leaders in pro-AV microphone technologies, is pleased to announce their return to the InfoComm stage for the highly anticipated InfoComm 2024 in Las Vegas, NV, from June 8th to June 14th.

InfoComm, the largest and most comprehensive professional audiovisual trade show in North America, sets the perfect backdrop for Clockaudio to unveil its latest technologies to an international audience of audio and video professionals. Taking place at the Las Vegas Convention Center, the event promises to be a hub of innovation and networking opportunities.

The Clockaudio booth (C10007) will provide attendees to an immersive experience showcasing a diverse range of microphone solutions. From plug-and-play versatility to classic, time-tested microphone offerings, Clockaudio's exhibit promises to captivate and inspire industry professionals from around the globe.

Robert Moreau, Managing Director for Clockaudio North America shares, "We are excited to exhibit again this year at Infocomm and eager to engage with fellow AV professionals for meaningful conversations and to gather invaluable feedback."

As InfoComm continues to be a pinnacle event for the pro-AV industry, Clockaudio recognizes the importance of building connections and nurturing relationships. Moreau adds, "Our presence at InfoComm underscores our commitment to providing both off the shelf and highly customized solutions that deliver unparalleled performance and sound quality. We look forward to reconnecting with old friends and forging new partnerships with the next generation of AV professionals."
