Clockaudio Continues to Spread its Reach With New Representatives in Midwest North America

September 21, 2016 – Waterlooville, Hampshire, United Kingdom – Clockaudio, a global leader in pro-av microphone technologies based in the UK and with offices in North America and Asia is proud to add Visitec to its family of North American representatives in the midwest.

Founded in 1986, Visitec specializes in audio video integration products and will be representing Clockaudio in North Dakota, South Dakota, Minnesota, Missouri, Iowa, Nebraska and Kansas.

The company is known for providing resellers with outstanding pre-sales and post-sales support around collaboration and AV technologies. Their solutions aren't pulled from a manual or spec book but based on field-proven knowledge. Bryan Tennyson, the firm's representative for Kansas says, "Each of our sales reps and technical specialists has hands-on experience enabling our partners in their unique opportunities and applications. We take pride in developing personal, responsive relationships with our clients and the companies we represent."

Robert Moreau, Managing Director for Clockaudio North America adds, "We had been looking for quite some time but really wanted to wait until we found the right firm to represent us in this territory. With their coverage capabilities and commitment to customer service, we know we have found a valuable addition to our rep team."

Visitec currently supports system integrators and resellers across the US and Canada through distribution sales and dealers in the Midwest and Southeastern US as an independent manufacturer representation company. Their headquarters are located in St. Charles Illinois. For more information on Visitec, visit www.visitec.com.
